THREE CITIES SEEKING NEXT W. C. T. U. MEET Government Of Lloyd George Has Fallen

PREMIER EXPECTED TO QUIT HIS OFFICE WHEN RESIGNATION OF HIS AIDES FILED

Party, By Vote of 186 To 87, Decides to Leave The Coalition

POLITICAL ACTIVITY IN ENGLAND IS UNABATED

General Elections On Armistice Day, November 11, Now
Thought Possibility

(Associated Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 19.—The resignation of Lloyd George was announced officially this evening.

(Associated Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 19.—The government of Prime Minister Lloyd George resigned this afternoon.
The Lloyd George coalition received its death blow at the hands of the conservative party when members of the house of commons voted to appeal to the country as a conservative party.

Several of the unionist junior members of the cabinet resigned
immediately after the unionist meeting. Since the conservatives have the largest number of members in the house of commons, it was expected conservatives would be picked to form the government.

Either Bonar Law or the Earl of Derby was expected to be chosen.

Lloyd George outlasted all statesmen who guided the great nations through the World war.

(Associated Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 19.—The conservatives, at a meeting here, decided by a vote of 186 to 87 to appeal to the country as a conservative party. It is confidently expected Lloyd George will resign when he receives the resignation of Austin Chamberlain,
the government leader in the house of commons.

The conservatives' vote means that the party will withdraw from the Lloyd George coalition party and the resignations of Austin Chamberlain and Lord Balfour and Lord Birkenhead from the cabinet are expected.

There is increasing resentment
over the limitation of the meeting to members of the House of Commons and the exclusion of conservative peers, it being contended that such a meeting would fail to be representative of the party as a whole.

Moreover the meeting is regarded as an attempt to forestall the annual conference of the Conservative party in mid-November. Hence the executive committee to the National Unionist Association called a special meeting, Sir George Younger, chairman of the party presiding, and unanimously adopted a resolution instructing the committee to summon forthwith an emergency conference of the party.

This emergency meeting is much more likely to reveal the complete extent of the split in the Conservative party over the question of Mr.
Lloyd George's leadership than is the Carlton Club meeting.

DETECTIVES PROBE NEW MURDER ANGLE

(Associated Press.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 19.—
Detectives began an investigation today of the report that the Hall-Mills murder was committed in a shed at Weston Mills, a settlement several miles from here and four miles from the place where the bodies were found.

Authorities have affidavits from two men who said they heard a woman scream and pleas for mercy
as they passed the shed about 10:30 o'clock on the night of the murder.
They said they continued on their way and later an automobile whizzed by them going in the direction of the Phillips farm.

(Associated Press.)
TRENTON, Oct. 19.—Ellis H. Parker, Burlington County detective, today made public an unsigned letter mailed from Philadelphia, purporting to solve the Hall-Mills murder case as one of murder and suicide.
The writer said he was on the Phillips farm and heard a quarrel between the man and woman. The man was stabbed, and then shot the woman and himself.

(Associated Press.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 19.—
New evidence in the Hall-Mills murder is in the hands of the prosecutor, it was announced this afternoon but whether the evidence was not stated.

HARTSELLE ADOPTS STRAIGHT ROUTE OF 'BEE LINE' THROUGH HEART OF THE CITY

Street Committee Empowered To Begin Negotiations For
The Right-of-Way

STREET IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED BY COUNCIL

Contract Is Let To Tennessee
Company For The Preliminary Work

HARTSELLE, Ala., Oct. 19.—At a meeting of the mayor and city council the board launched out on some improvement measures, the first act of the kind since taking up the reigns of city government.

A unanimous decision was reached by the board for the improvement of the city's streets. A contract was entered into with the Tennessee Asphalt Street Paving Company to begin at once and put the main business streets in first class condition.
The work done at this time will be the preliminary work for an extensive program of street repairing in the spring.

The contract at present calls for the improvement of the downtown streets and Main street east of the railroad will also receive attention.

The council accepted the straight line improvement of the Bee Line
highway, and empowered the street
committee to begin at once negotiations looking toward the purchasing of the right of way, and if necessary institute condemnation proceedings to make the right of way available. The improvement in straightening this highway will begin at a point where the highway leaves the business part of town, and goes straight to a point near the Morgan County High School.

Plans are already on foot to improve that portion of the Bee Line Highway within the corporate limits of the town north to the limits of the incorporation line. This work will be contracted soon, and with the other street improvements contemplated and those already contracted, everything will be put in good shape for the traffic of the winter.

THOUSANDS SPENT FOR NEW SCHOOLS OVER THIS COUNTY DURING PAST YEAR

Reports at Meeting of Board Of Education Show Progress Made

APPROPRIATIONS UP FOR CURRENT TERM

School Funds Will Be Apportioned To The Various Institutions

The Morgan County Board of Education is in session today at the courthouse meeting at 10 o'clock for the purpose of apportioning the school funds, both state and county
for all the schools in the county.

The county board has the supervision of all the funds for school purposes in the county, employees, all the teachers for the schools, with the exception of Albany-Decatur, the teachers in this case being selected by the city superintendents of each school respectively. All the members of the board were present, the board being composed of Messrs R. L. Garner, J. T. Kyle, Tom Gunn, B. L.
Malone, Tom Crawford and E. L.
Hays, by virtue of his office is also a member.

A short review of some of the activities of the county board and Superintendent E. L. Hays during the present year, is indeed inspiring to those who have the cause of education at heart. During the present year new buildings have already been completed and in course of erection at the following places:

At Flint, a splendid building, costing $11,000; Collins school, house,
southwest of Hartselle, $4,000; addition to Natural Bridge school,
$600; addition to Gandies Cove
School, $700; Lynn School in Wolf's
southwest of Hartselle, 4,000; ad-
beat, $4,000; Moulton Heights school, $5,000; addition to Trinity School, between $3,000 and $4,000, brick addition to Austinville school, $15,000
new school at Priceville, $5,000.
These figures do not include many other improvements made at different points over the county, and the building program for the future is equally full of promise.

The educational interest over the entire county was never worked up to such a high degree of enthusiasm, and in every section there is the very best cooperation upon the part of parents, teachers and pupils.

"These things are but sign boards and tell eloquently of the great things which are to be accomplished by a program of this kind," said one member of the board today.

Work Begins.

Work on the Danville Junior High School was begun Monday morning,
under the direction of Charles E.
Malone, contractor. The contract calls for completion on or about December 1. The building is on the same plans of the Flint school just completed, with the exception it is to contain one more room, and is to be 20 feet longer. The Flint school is completed with the exception of putting in the doors and windows
which have been hindered in transit. The Flint building was erected at a cost of $11,000, and is electrically wired and ready for the current. A great many brick were used in the building at Flint, and therefore

"Gold Star" Mother and Father of One of Pershing's Hundred Heroes Get Sympathy Message from "Buddy"

Following his usual custom of writing to the father and mother of his dead "buddy" on the anniversary of the latter's death in France, Earl P.
Witzgall, commander of Henry Wehrkamp Post, Veterans of the Foreign Wars, has written to Rev. and Mrs.
J. I. Stockton, of near Albany, a beautiful tribute to Frank Stockton, who was chosen by General Pershing
as one of his "hundred greatest heroes."

The letter follows:
"It is nearing the fourth anniversary since my buddy and comrade,
and your son, made the supreme sacrifice on the field of honor in the performance of his duty, as a soldier in the service of his country, therefore it is my duty to write at least once a year to his nearest kin.

"The years have passed and the general public and higher officials have forgotten the living and dead of those trying days of 1917-18, but I, as a soldier, shall always remember the day that my comrade gave his spirit unto God's keeping so that the world and its people may live.

"My one regret is that I am unable to visit the parents of him
whom I loved as a brother.

"One by one, as the years roll
by, we are called upon to fulfill these sad duties of respect to our departed comrades. The present, full of cares and pleasures of civil life, fades away and we look back to the time when shoulder to shoulder, on bloody battlefield or around the guns of battleships, we fought for our dear old flag. We hope that the spirit with which on land and sea, hardships, privations, dangers and death were faced uncomplainingly in the past, a spirit noble, obedient to the behest of duty, by reason of which our country is secure and our loved ones entitled to live in peace under the aegis of the flag, will prove a glorious incentive to the youth of our country, who in years to come, may be called upon to uphold the honor of our flag."

"As years roll on we too shall have finished our fight, shall be laid to rest and our souls follow the long column to the realms above, as grim Death, hour by hour, shall mark his victims.

"Comrades, let us so live that when the keeper of the Eternal Records shall have checked our names on his roll, those we leave behind may say about our grave as we say now:
"Here lies all that is left on this earth of a true hearted comrade and a fearless defender of his country and his flag."

"Our comrade is in the hands of Our Heavenly Father and "God giveth His beloved sleep. Amen." These words have been taken from the ritual of our order and I write them in memory of him who was my buddy
and comrade."

were made as the operators were not at the stills when the raids were made.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—If children can't take their parents seriously what are they to do? The story of the pot of gold at the rainbow's end seemed perfectly reasonable to Jimmy and Bessie Marder, of one of our more rural suburbs. Aside from its reasonableness their parents had told them it was there. So they started out to find it. It took considerable searching to find them and bring them home again to their distracted parents; who have been trying in vain to explain their rainbow stories in the light of developments.

There is one indisputable way in which you can tell the old houses down in our Greenwich and Chelsea neighborhoods from the recent ones which have been built to look like them. The old ones have been re-finished and the new ones built on old-time lines, but at one side of the front steps you will find the key to the riddle of time. It's the mudscraper! Every one of the old homes, built when there were honest dirt roads instead of asphalt pavements, has the mudscraper at the side of the step and neither studio windows nor any other innovation can offset that inevitable proof of age.

Nora Bayes in "The Queen of Hearts" is the same old Nora who has always taken her audiences to her heart and made them love her. She proves once again that the reason she is never imitated is that no one else can possibly sing a song in the Bayes fashion. She will undoubtedly reign in her rightful role at the Cohan Theater through a long season.

DOCTOR ORDERED WOMAN OBEYED

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and is Now Well

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."—Mrs. ADRIAN TOMSHECK, 10567 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomscheck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomscheck's experience should guide you towards health.

YOUR HEALTH

What You Ought to Do About a Cold That Hangs on

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

EVERY persistent cold is a menace to your life. No matter how you have neglected yourself in the early stages of your cold, you cannot disregard their significance if the symptoms hang on.

After the acute symptoms have subsided or have disappeared there may persist an amount of thick nasal discharge from one side only. This may or may not be accompanied by pain. Ordinarily, there is no discomfort if the discharge is free.

One-sided discharge of this sort indicates suppuration in one of the nasal sinuses. Sometimes this may be relieved by applying argyrol—a 10 per cent. solution—to the nasal passages.

Take a wooden toothpick and twist about it layers of cotton, making a tampon about the size and length of a cigarette. Let the cotton project a quarter of an inch over the end of the stick to guard the tissue of your nose when the tampon is inserted. Dip this tampon in the argyrol and gently insert it in the nose, where you may leave it for half an hour. Do this with both nostrils.

Daily applications like this will usually relieve the trouble in a short time. But if the symptoms continue, and especially if pain appears, skilled medical aid is needed.

Needless to say, if deafness or discharge from the ear is noticed, ear treatment is demanded. The common aftereffect of a neglected cold is a nasty cough. There are heaving in the throat, possibly a sense of heaviness or constriction across the chest, and a low degree of fever at night.

Such symptoms demand instant attention. Your chest must be sounded and your sputum examined. This is the way tuberculosis begins. I do not wish to alarm you, but I wish to impress upon you the importance of immediate action when such symptoms occur. Treatment now will insure your recovery. Continued neglect may render your case hopeless.

To have a cold means that you are run down. To cure it, not only have you to deal with the acute symptoms, but also you have to overcome the remote and underlying causes of your trouble.

If you can arrange it, a few days' change of air will do wonders for you. Go to the seaside, to the mountains, to the country or anywhere away from your regular heat will do more than medicine. If you cannot afford the luxury of a little trip, wrap up warmly and sit in the park. Fresh air and sunlight are what you need.

Do not neglect an acute cold for the sake of your associates.

Grant was inaugurated at the age of 46 and served 8 years. An act of magnanimity at the time of the surrender when he refused to accept the sword of his adversary, General Robert E. Lee, raised him greatly in the estimation of his worthy foe, and did much to ameliorate conditions at that time. He was a member of the Methodist Church. He died July 23, 1885, at the age of 63, from the effects of cancer.

Next, Rutherford B. Hayes.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.

WRONG KIND OF TRAINING FOR A NAVAL CAREER.

Hazing is indefensible anywhere, because it is an application of mob law to colleges. It is even worse in a government military institution where young men, supposed to have been chosen for their ability and fitness, are being trained as officers in the navy.

The latest outbreak of hazing at Annapolis, where it appears that this practice is hard to stop, is said to be the worst in several years. The fact that one of the victims is an Alabama boy may arouse some indignation in this state, but such brutality cannot be too strongly condemned, no matter who the victim.

A midshipman who mistreats an under classman in a cowardly and brutal manner will not make a good officer. It is all very well to talk about youthful exuberance and "boyish pranks," but the young men at the Naval academy are old enough to know better, and the career for which they are fitting themselves should give them more discretion and more manliness than we would expect of students at some "fresh water" college. Once a midshipman is proved guilty of excessive hazing, he ought to be expelled without further parley. Obviously he has no business at the Naval academy and would be out of place in the navy.

Unfortunately, efforts of the Naval academy authorities to break up hazing are retarded by the meddling of members of Congress with axes to grind back home. Political pressure is too often brought to bear at the expense of discipline.—Age-Herald.

OUTLOOK FOR NOVEMBER.

David Lawrence is on a tour of the country on a political mission, and he first visited Ohio. He found that state wavering in its love and admiration of Harding, and he thought the 400,000 majority given to Harding in the presidential landslide would be cut to 60,000 in November.

The next state Mr. Lawrence visited was Michigan. He found the republican party in sore straits in that state largely due to Newberryism. While Senator Townsend was renominated by his party, notwithstanding his vote for Newberry, Mr. Lawrence expresses the opinion that he will pull through with a very small majority in November. The 350,000 majority the republicans carried the state in the presidential campaign will fall to less than the normal majority in the coming election. Governor Ferris is the democratic nominee for United States Senator against Townsend, and he says the democrats have strong hopes of his election.

In explaining this hope of the democrats and political issues in Michigan, Mr. Lawrence says: "The campaign has hardly begun, but it will be admitted that former Governor Ferris, who is running for the United States senate on the democratic ticket, is a fascinating speaker and vote-getter. Twice he carried this state, and to do so any democrat must win the republican voters to his standard by tens of thousands. His strength was not sufficient, however, two years ago, to offset the Harding tide and he was defeated by 360,000, which was only 80,000 better than the democratic totals for president.

"Those who believe former Governor Ferris has a chance to win, base their hunch on the fact that he has twice carried a republican state of such size as this, and they argue that the 1920 landslide would have buried anybody. Mr. Ferris makes friends on the stump and draws immense crowds. He twits his opponents constantly and promises an interesting campaign for Michigan.

"As for issues, the chief complaint against Senator Townsend is that he refused to vote to unseat his colleague, Truman H. Newberry. There is a good deal of agitation over Newberryism. It didn't all vanish after the primaries, either. The 125,000 votes which Herbert Baker got in the republican primaries for United States senator is variously described as "sinister" and "significant." It's the vote of the same people that helped Roosevelt sweep the state against Taft and the same radical fringe which carried the presidential primaries for Hiram Johnson. The democratic calculators simply add the 125,000 to Mr. Ferris' prospective total and remark that Mr. Townsend really polled only one-ninth of the state vote on primary day."

Another thing favorable to Ferris, according to Mr. Lawrence, is that Henry Ford is friendly to his candidacy, which, he claims, is due to the Newberry issue. "Ford's support will be an asset to Ferris in Wayne county," which embraces republican Detroit," says Mr. Lawrence.

In explaining the waning strength of President Harding in Michigan as in Ohio, Mr. Lawrence makes one that is general, and not confined to the two states, as he will discover as he proceeds from one state to another in his tour of the country.

"Again in Michigan, as in Ohio," says Mr. Lawrence, "the public has the impression that Mr. Harding wasn't firm enough in the strike crisis. No one comes forward with a concrete suggestion as to what he might have done—opinion hasn't crystallized on alternatives—but the labor people criticize the president for what he did, while the business men criticize him for what he did not do, and between the two elements the administration must expect some losses even in this realm of republicanism."—Montgomery Journal.

THE SCRUBBED ABBEY.

When those in charge of Westminster Abbey decided recently to scrub the venerable old building, many were the objections urged by lovers of tradition.

All those whom Americans would irreverently call "Members of the Old Stuff Society" rose in indignation, and said it would be a crime to disturb the ivy and lichens and mold and cobwebs and one thing and another which proved the age of the abbey and its contents.

Perhaps before the war they would have succeeded in their desire to have the abbey let alone. But even in England things have changed since the war. That a thing always has been so is no longer the potent reason that it used to be for leaving it so. The scrubbers won over the anti-scrubbers, and the results are not only "that nice clean smell" so rejoiced in by housewives after housecleaning time, but they give the effect of archaeological investigation. Says one writer:

"The bath of Westminster has brought forth bits of carving and even entire designs unknown to any but the architectural student. Tombs which were believed to be solid gray or black shine forth in the rainbow colors used by medieval artists."

Scrubbing the dusty accumulations of years from other respected relics might have the same effect. Reading the New Testament without any theological bias has been known to bring strange results in the lives and ideals of men. Reading the Constitution of the United States from a page cleaned down to the original ideals and purposes of the Fathers has also been known to bring out strange beauties and heretofore unrecognized designs.—Tuscaloosa News.

ST. LOUIS BLAMES THE WOMEN AND WILL TEACH THEM TO DRIVE.

Are women drivers of automobiles less careful than men drivers? In St. Louis it appears to be the consensus of opinion among traffic officers and some others that the women are the ones who meet with the most accidents and cause most confusion in crowded thoroughfares. It may not be so in other cities. In fact, the greater number of really bad automobile accidents are caused almost invariably by men drivers who drive recklessly. It is not charged, even in St. Louis that women drivers are the more reckless; merely that they are less experienced, the less careful and most likely to take fright and "lose their head."

To remedy the evil as it sees it, St. Louis has hit upon a new plan. It will educate the women drivers, instill confidence in their minds by teaching them in night schools just what to do and when to do it in driving, and generally will make them more efficient. The plan should prove a good one, but why single out the women? Doubtless there are a great number of men drivers in St. Louis who "lose their head" in a crisis, get on the wrong side of the street, ignore the traffic cop and evade the speed laws. They should need educating in a driving way quite as much as the women.

The schools in which St. Louis ladies will learn the science of driving also will teach them the science of automobile mechanics, a useful thing for women to know. The job of teaching has been turned over to the public school authorities in St. Louis and a regularly conducted night school for women automobile drivers will be conducted.

The St. Louis experiment may be taken up in other cities, thinks the New Orleans Times-Picayune. The New Orleans paper says of the St. Louis experiment:

"Many ladies are excellent motorists, but it is claimed that the greater number even of those who habitually 'chauffer' their own cars know little of the mechanical construction and emergency possibilities of the auto. If those, and also ladies who are planning to drive, will be willing to accept the education board's advice and instruction it is believed that much good will be accomplished. Other cities doubtless will watch the St. Louis experiment with a view of doing likewise if the ladies decide to accept the offer in the spirit it is intended and do not boycott the classes as being an insult to feminine mechanical instinct.

Doubtless in time the science of automobile driving and automobile mechanics will be taught in all cities, either in public schools or in special schools established in the interest of better driving, but the classes will not be composed exclusively of women. The men need the instruction about as much as do the women, and the men, too, would feel a bit aggrieved if they were to be barred from getting in on the knowledge proposition. Anything that will make automobile driving more safe is a good thing, and the St. Louis experiment should have a far-reaching effect.—Anniston Star.

MODIFYING THE SALUTE.

The War Department advises officers and enlisted men that they may modify the salute. Hereafter, we understand, it will be incumbent upon them to salute only while on military reservations.

Outside the reservations on the streets in cities and towns or elsewhere the salute may be omitted if desired—and it will be desired.

Commenting approvingly upon the modification order, the Houston Post says:

"Every camp city remembers what an over-saluted army ours was when it was being prepared for service during the last war. Soldiers off duty on the streets were kept busy saluting every officer who appeared in sight, from second lieutenant to general, and the officers likewise were compelled to expend energy unnecessarily in returning the compliments.

"The rule requiring the salutes was also the source of no little friction between young officers and men at various times when off duty. Some of the younger officers, jealous of their positions, never allowed an opportunity to pass to censure some recruit who for some reason may have failed to salute.

"The salute is an aid to discipline and may be used with good effect under limitations. But in a Democratic country such as this the less such a military regulation is emphasized, the better it is for all concerned. Especially is it desirable to have a modified salute regulation for such an army as our national army was. It would have been much better had the present regulation been in force when the troops were in training. If it ever becomes necessary to train another citizen army, this modified rule promulgated by the department should stand."—Montgomery Advertiser.

Every man makes his contribution to that section of society in which he moves. If this be a fact, and it is, it is his record and cannot be changed. In the performance of this life work he either gives of his best, or is careless and indifferent, and depending on this his contribution is either good or bad. In other words, if he fails to bend every energy to give off only those things which will elevate and tend to raise his fellow beings in a higher scale of living, and set such object lessons as are wholesome, he has been a failure, and the rewards of his contribution are not wholesome. Carried to its logical conclusion, each one is entrusted with the imperative duty of leaving a contribution to others; by these standards each is judged either negligent or diligent in the eyes of right, which in this instance is the supreme test.

It has ever been the rule of the world to pass the hard jobs around to the other fellow. When something which requires neither thought or training is to be done, there are many who will essay for the task. When something which calls for the exercise of patience and some training is to be done, the average fellow is perfectly willing that John shall do it.

DARK COLORS AND SOFT FABRICS SHOW ART IN AUTUMN GOWNING

ART STUDENTS SEE ART IN MERCHANDISE

CHICAGO—A group of art students interested in applying art to industry made one of many artists' and educational groups' hat views with interest the pictured costumes of tomorrow shown in the fashion books at the fabric fashion show, one of the distinctive features of Marshall Field & Company's art in merchandise exposition. The pages were turned by young women in gowns of black lace who showed samples of the materials of which the models were to be made and described the gowns and the building of them. Modes, materials, and expert instruction are all a part of the service Marshall Field & Company bring from the markets, looms, and factories of the world, to preach the gospel of art in merchandising. A street suit was shown in tobacco brown duvetyne heavily braided; the skirt a full ten inches from the ground and the sleeves hanging long and bell-shaped over the hand. For winter, the demonstrator explained, the sleeves would be tightened at the wrist and the flowing style for street wear would disappear. Street suits and gowns, according to Marshall Field & Company's creative artists and foreign buyers, will be worn eight and ten inches from the ground. Brown is the leading color, followed by black and blue. Skirts draped on one or both sides and drawn tight around the hips with what is called a "spank back," a higher waist line, and an uneven hem line, are among the distinctive features of the new styles. A street costume that may be made as either a suit or dress is of wood brown matlasse with straight simple lines and a Russian blouse effect.

Pearls Purchase By Prince Causes Hearts To Flutter

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The fact that the Prince of Wales is collecting pearls for a necklace has furnished another topic of absorbing interest for discussion over the tea cups and there are flutters in the hearts of these interested in the royal matrimonial plans.

It will be remembered that Lord Lascelles did exactly the same thing before the announcement of his engagement to Princess Mary. But even that precedent it is not safe to assume that any exciting news will follow the revelation of the Prince's interest in such matters, for pearl collecting among the English nobility is a time honored occupation.

Many priceless collections of pearls have been owned by Englishmen in the past, but very few of them are intact at the present time. The Duchess of Devonshire still possesses the famous Devonshire pearls which were collected 50 years ago at a cost said to have been 80,000 pounds.

The Duke of Buckingham, during the reign of Charles I, was able to collect the most famous pearls then in England but at the time of the Commonwealth they were taken to Paris and sold to various dealers there.

Matching pearls in the present day is a hard task and of course, it requires a very long and well filled purse. Even when money is no object it requires much time and infinite patience. All the markets of the world have to be searched and each pearl must be considered in relation to all the others in order to form a perfect necklace.

TWIN SIX

A Bridge club recently organized by the following young men of the Twin Cities, Messrs. Stanley and Roy Wyatt, Clifton Almon, Asbury Malone, Edwin Shackelford and Elmer Lloyd, was entertained by Miss Erin Draper at her home on Seventh Avenue, the other members belonging to the club are Misses Daphney Graves, Erin Draper, Mary Harvey, Helen Russell, Polly Robinson and Amanda Pride.

A business session was first disposed of, when Elmer Lloyd was elected president and the night of meeting set for Wednesday evening semi-monthly.

Bridge was then enjoyed and Miss Draper won the girl's prize and Stanley Wyatt received the boys' prize. A salad course with hot coffee was served at the card tables.

Mrs. R. L. Sherrill, of Hartselle, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Sherrill.

Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Grayson and daughter, Avaline, left today for Mobile, where Dr. Grayson goes to continue medical studies.

Mrs. J. L. Guter will go to Birmingham Friday to be the guest of friends.

Mrs. George J. Freidkin has returned to her home after undergoing an operation for tonsillitis at the Benevolent Hospital.

The Federated Missionary Societies comprising seventeen societies in Albany-Decatur, Austinville and Trinity, held one of its most interesting sessions Monday at the First Presbyterian Church, Decatur. Mrs. C. E. Malone, of the Central Baptist society, presided. The invitation extended by the Moulton Street Christian church for the April meeting was accepted unanimously. The devotional at both the afternoon and evening sessions was led by Miss Sue Morris, of Trinity, and Mrs. E. C. Payne, of the Westminster Presbyterian.

Very attractive readings were given by Marie Ballas, Mary Battle Hendrix and Jane Wade, pupils of Mrs. Earl Calvin. The musical program was furnished by Baby Bess Bailey, Ruth Banks, Daphne Graves and Mrs. H. O. Troup.

The main feature of the afternoon program was an address by Mrs. Jolly of Florence, Secretary of the Associated Charities of the Tri-Cities. Mrs. Jolly, having received special training in New York in Welfare Work, and having already applied her training in service rendered to her home towns, had many helpful suggestions to make.

At 6:30 the ladies of the hostess church served a delightful salad and ice course to about 150 guests.

The main feature of the evening program was a pageant, "Lifting Hands," based on the Mission Study Book, "The Kingdom and The Nations." Jessie Mae Miller, Phyllis Perkins and Mrs. Otto Owen represented the "Woman of the Church," "Prayer," and "Faith." No one failed to get the lesson from the "Vision" that came to the "Woman of the Church," through "Prayer" and "Faith."

The success of the pageant was due largely to the cooperation of and assistance rendered by Mrs. Penland, Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. Burnes and Mrs. Thompson with their groups, from the South Albany Churches; Miss Truman Stuckey, with her group, from West Albany Presbyterian Church; Miss Elizabeth Carpenter, with her group, from the Central Albany Baptist Church; Mrs. L. P. Troup, with her groups, from St. John's, Moulton St. Chr. Ch., Central Methodist and Westminster Presbyterian Churches, and Mrs. Kabrick and Margaret Broadus with groups from the three Decatur Churches.

General Pershing Addresses Legion

(Associated Press.) NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19.—General Pershing was the chief speaker at the fourth annual convention of the American Legion here today. The hospitalization committee's report avoided further condemnation of the Sawyer policy. To appease critics of Sawyer, a compromise was reached accepted by his stand as sincere for the time being only.

A heated debate followed the introduction of a resolution, by Department Commander Barren, of Minnesota, demanding removal of Brigadier General Sawyer. The attack was inspired by the report of the committee which accepted the pledge of cooperation given by General Sawyer.

Sawyer's removal was demanded by a vote of nearly two to one.

Tax Collections Double This Year

The first few places visited by the tax collector and assessor in their rounds over the county collecting the state and county tax for this year, and assessing the property for another tax year, is yielding more than double the collections made over a similar period last year. Those in charge of the tax books at the courthouse also report considerable money being collected at this point, indicating clearly that there is plenty of money in the county and tax payers are disposed to pay their taxes and get that matter out of the way.

State Convention Will End Today

win Hamilton won over Miss Jesse Mae Miller. Mrs. Hamilton made a graceful response to the presentation speech of Mrs. Mary T. Jeffries. Mrs. Jeffries gave Miss Miller a kiss in lieu of the silver medal.

Miss Julia Bingham, of Decatur, was awarded the medal in the first contest, after long deliberation by the Judges, Mrs. J. C. Orr of Birmingham, formerly of the Twin Cities, Mrs. F. M. Jackson, and Mrs. J. A. Miller.

At the W. C. T. U. convention held here in 1911, Miss Marjorie Rainey, who had trained Miss Bingham this year, won the reciter's medal.

Miss Belle Kearney was introduced by Mrs. Jeffries in a most hospitable and gracious manner. The distinguished guest appeared fully at ease, and spoke for about an hour, holding the closest attention of her hearers.

"I do not know what you friends think about it; but I think the Armenians should have their boundaries restored both in Europe and Asia. And I believe the great powers should drive the Turks, like other swine down into the sea—into the sea of eternal forgetfulness." This expression of Miss Belle Kearney was greeted with instant applause. What she said about the Turk was ample, and the enthusiasm she aroused for the down trodden Armenians, exceeded that of any other part of her address.

The speaker expressed the opinion that not many years hence the British empire would be divided up into republics—that Canada, New Zealand, and such dominions would join the company of the new republics now in existence.

The distinguished speaker's address showed she was thoroughly conversant with present day world events. She replied to critics who had said that none but international lawyers should sit in the U. S. senate, and declared that present denial of that privilege to women was "only deferred justice". This sentiment met a hearty reception from the audience.

As previously announced the address of Miss Kearney is one of her Chattanooga lectures and evidently one of her best. It proved to be built along the lines of the popular lectures of our times, and as for attractive power forcefulness Miss Kearney took high rank.

She closed with a patriotic appeal, that we "keep the light shining on our flag." The speaker depicted lamentable conditions, as reported to her by publicists, at Washington, that proved eye openers to some in the audience. Stepping across the sea, without divulging names, Miss Kearney described a dinner she attended in England, where the hostess drank a whole tumbler full of Scotch whiskey, and then became so conversational that she forgot to dispose of her soup, which the fat dogs in her lap proceeded to do; also those pets drank some of a weaker liquor that "her ladyship had discarded".

Miss Kearney arose to the heights in demanding that American women do not fall to such an existence. In opening the speaker rapidly swept over the entire earth, and told briefly something about all the new republics that have arisen since the World war.

The clear pronunciation Miss Kearney gave to the many hard Russian, Austrian, Polish and German names was an education to any who might want to speak such names in the future.

Heaviest Frost Seen This Morning

The heaviest frost of the season came Wednesday night in the Tennessee Valley, its white crest being observed on every hand. The thermometer registered 42 degrees in the early morning hours, and some ice also formed. This is termed a killing frost and will have great effect in doing away with the pestive mosquito who has had a big inning during the last 30 or 60 days. It is also a sure sign that malaria will be under control. During the yellow fever epidemic which formerly prevailed in the Southern cities the appearance of the first white frost was hailed with delight, as it proved specific for the malady, and curbed its spread.

TOM MIX AT DELIGHT FRIDAY

Tom Mix in an unusual role will appear at the Delight Friday. "The Fighting Streak," which comes well recommended is said to be a good one.

CURL WILL SPEAK FRIDAY MORNING

According to announcement at the Rail Strikers' meeting at the Princess Theater this morning, Rev. J. W. Curl, pastor of the Ninth Street Methodist Church, will address them Friday morning. The principal address today was made by Rev. R. F. Stuckey. He was followed by a short speech by Rev. T. B. Harwell.

R. F. Ling, in behalf of the entertainment committee, made an encouraging report and a brief report was made by T. Frank Lewis.

Woman Asks For Pardon in Conjure Murder in Dallas

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY Ala., Oct. 19.—Annie Junior, Dallas County negress, who killed her husband 20 years ago because he was trying to conjure her, has applied to the state board of pardons for release on parole. The woman has served since December 20, 1902, and is an old woman. A jury held her to be guilty of murder in the first degree and imposed a life sentence on her.

The woman was ruled by superstition. She found a joint of cane under the steps which had been doctored with a rag and sand. This she realized was an act of the conjureman, whom she took to be her own husband—but here's her own story, as taken from the official records of her trial:

"Tom Junior was trying to conjure me. I know for I found a joint of cane under the steps with a rag around it and sand in it, so I made up my mind to get rid of him. I found a rattler somebody had killed. I cut off the head, boiled it and gave him the water to drink. That nigger fattened on it. I got some Parsi green and boiled that, giving him the water to drink. He got still fatter. It then went to Ben Allison's store and bought a box of rat poison. I gave it to him in his victuals and then I sure got him where the doctor couldn't do nothing with him."

Few citizens of Dallas County now remember anything about the crime. The woman has been a faithful penal servant of the state, now being confined in the prison at Speigner where she is employed in the cotton mill.

Russian Players Will Invade U. S.

(Associated Press.)

MOSCOW, Sept. 18.—Five theatrical, musical and artistic attractions from Russia are to appear in the United States during the coming winter and spring under the auspices of the Russian Red Cross in America. The proceeds of the performances will go toward Russian famine relief. Arrangements to this end have been made with the People's Commissariat of Education, which has charge of theatrical affairs for the Soviet government.

THE WEATHER.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED.

A second fire of the morning was the roof blaze, Fourth Avenue, South, at the home of J. E. Black. The Albany fire department was at the burning building a few minutes after the alarm was sounded.

The fire originated from a defective flue, and owing to the condition of the shingle roof it would doubtless have caused a great loss, but for the timely action of the firemen.
